Wm. H. Collier, of Plummer's Landing, Fleming county, gets a new Federal pension of $12 per month. Jas. Lowe, of near this town, gets an increase from $8 to $12; J. K. Bates, of Salt Lick, a renewal, $8 to $10.

Old Crisp came Wednesday of last week and put his chickens in good working order for the winter season. He turned the crank and let out a smart shower of snowflakes just to show that he could do the trick when he was good and ready.

WANTED.—To buy a farm of 50 or 100 acres, all cash.

For Sale, 150 bushels of corn and 5 tons of hay, bluegrass pasture to feed on till Jan. 1st, 1899. Address at once J. J. & W. F. MARK, Flat Creek, Ky.

SEAGRAM TREE GROVE.—Dr. A. W. Walden is planting a grove of old-fashioned sugar trees near his orchard for a pleasant place of resort in the hot season. He has already set out over fifty trees and will increase the grove to 100. They will be a long time coming on, but will be mighty nice when they get a fair growth.

THE TURKEY CROP.—From what information is at hand, the Bath county turkey crop this fall is about one half of what it is in average years. A rainy season like the past summer is bad for young turkeys, and this is given as the cause of the reduced flocks this season. One buyer is reported to be buying, paying 6 cents per pound on foot. The turkey shippers mostly lost money last season and they are chary of engaging in the business again.

DRIVING RACE AGAINST TIME.—Considerable interest was aroused in a little wager here last Saturday. One of the young sports wagered that Dr. Taulbee couldn't trot his mare in a buggy from Paris' livery stable to Preston in 19 minutes. Doctor and Eugene Brother rode behind the mare and each timed the race. The Taulbees side claimed the race in 18 minutes and 55 seconds; the other side claimed it was 19:05. The distance is about 6 miles. The wager was withdrawn.

NEW GOODS.—Newton Johnson, of Grange City, has returned from the city and wishes to announce to his friends and customers that his stock is full and complete. He is fixed to make prices to please his customers. 12 tf HORSEBACK ACCIDENT.—Miss Eula Horneback rides horseback in to school. Wednesday of last week, as it was raining and muddy, Miss Loena Ross got on behind her to come to school. One of the girls hoisted an umbrella, which frightened the horse and it wheeled around suddenly, throwing both the girls off on the hard turnpike. Miss Loena was painfully bruised.

SALE.—On Saturday, Nov. 12th, at a mile from Owensville, I will sell all of my stock—horses, mules and cattle,—about 500 bbls. of corn, fodder, tobacco, etc., and household goods. T. J. JONES, Owensville, Ky.

METEORIC SHOWER.—Some astronomers are advertising the biggest show of celestial pyrotechnics seen from the earth in many years, to occur on Nov. 12th and 23rd, in the form of burning meteors. To be certain to not miss the show observers are advised to begin at 11 o'clock on the night of Nov. 11th and keep watch each night until on the morning of Nov. 15th for the first exhibit.

AFTER GAME-LAW VIOLATIONS.—The Cuvier Club of Cincinnati and Covington has a large poster on the Court-house bulletin board here offering a reward of ten dollars for the conviction of any one for killing partridges or pheasants and for catching fish against the law, the ten dollars to go to the informer. This is in addition to the reward under the State law.

THE NEW CROP.—The new crop Burley that has reached this market so far has been most disappointing. The tobacco is thin, with no gum, dingy in appearance, lifeless, and in truth very undesirable for filler purposes. Not a single hoghead of color or bright has been seen on the market so far this season. Generally if any brights are in the crop they appear among the first offerings in the shape of trushes or low grades, but this season we have no indication coming from this quarter that brights are plentiful, or even in moderate supply in the '98 crop of Burley.—Louisville Weed.

RECENT NOTES.—C. C. Horvath's mill house is about completed and the machinery will be installed this week probably.

Contractor J. W. Smith is rushing Peed's lively stable to completion with all possible dispatch.

The Electric-light company's building has been remodeled and is now a more slightly structure.

The foundation of L. O. Kimbrough's residence is about completed and the carpenter work will be under way soon.

It is reported that several prominent farmers of the county are desirous of moving to town, but every dwelling and business house here is occupied. Without something unforeseen happens several residences and business houses will be erected next year.

MARK A. BENEDICT AGAIN.—Woodhull, Ill., Oct. 29, 1898.—Editor of THE OWINGSVILLE OUTLOOK. Dear Sir: Will you please give space to the following:—

Married, at Cambridge, Henry Co., Ill., Oct. 27, 1898, Marcus W. Bailey, formerly of Owensville, Kentucky, to Miss Martha S. Bowen, of Lebanon, Ohio. This worthy and happy couple are receiving the congratulations of their many friends in and around Woodhull, Ill. GEN. CROSTON.

The foregoing is correct. M. W. BAILEY.

Everybody in this country knows clever, genial Mark Bailey and he will be glad to hear of his matrimonial happiness. Heartly congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Bailey.

ARRESTED ONE, AFTER ANOTHER.—Cincinnati, Oct. 29, 1898.—OURLINK, Owensville, Ky.: Constable Morris Evans arrested Harvey Sanders near Bethel Thursday morning for the murder of Dave Frank at Crittenden, Grant county, Ky., in April. He left Thursday afternoon for Williamstown, county-seat of Grant, with the prisoner, going by way of Covington, where he stayed over night, placing Sanders in jail. He continued his journey next morning. It was rumored that Sanders' friends would try to release him as he passed Crittenden, but such was not the case. Sanders says Frank was trying to kill him with a shot-gun, when he killed the gun to one side and shot Frank, killing him instantly. Evans delivered him to the jailer of Grant Co. and while there learned of the whereabouts of David Sowers, who is wanted in Bath county, Ky., for stealing, and the Sheriff and Marshal Evans proceeded to the place where Sowers was working, but he had not the Constable's arrival and was on the lookout. At sight of the officers he joined the "bird gang" and took to a large woods on Mr. Ellis' farm. Bloodhounds were then procured and put on the trail, but could only run the track to the edge of the woods. Thus Sowers is still at large. The Constable says he will have him if he stays in Kentucky.

HALLOWEEN PARTY.—On last Monday evening, Oct. 31, a merry party gathered at the residence of Mrs. Alex. Conner, on High street. It was truly a "ghostly array," most of the guests being dressed in white from head to foot. The evening was passed with charades, games, trying fortunes with apples, candles and by means of a cake with a ring, a dime, a needle and a thimble inside. Miss Clifford Hazelrigg got the ring, and Miss Lillian Daugherty the 10-cent piece. The needle and thimble were left. Many were the laughs enjoyed when the unmasking came. Among those present were Misses Ora Hart, Ethel Barnes, Nellie Kimbrough, Ruth Richards, Leona Ross, Lee Lightfoot, May Kincaid, Emily Broder, Nina and Clifford Hazelrigg, Mary Dawson, Mary Conner, Lorena Perry, Lillian Daugherty, Mary Gudegg, Sallie Faris, Edna Peters, Catherine Rice, Lottie Atchison, Louise Gudegg, Ethel Horneback; Mrs. Mittie Goodpastor, Mrs. T. S. Tinsley; Messrs. Duke Hampton, Holman Rice, Sherman Goodpastor, James Ross, Wallace Gudegg, Joe Conner, Ruby Kincaid. The party dispersed about 10:30, and everyone expressed themselves as having spent a delightful evening.

TALBOTT-MCCRAY.—"Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McCray request the honor of your presence at the marriage of their daughter Nota May to Mr. Mason Gallatin Talbott, Tuesday, November the eighth, Eighteen Hundred and Ninety-eight, at three o'clock. Pine View, North Middletown, Ky."

Mr. and Mrs. McCray are prominent and wealthy Bath county people who removed from the Bethel neighborhood to Bourbon county some years ago. Miss Nota May is their only daughter. She is a handsome, vivacious and attractive young lady, highly popular in society. She has visited her relatives here and in the county frequently and is much esteemed by her wide circle of friends.

Mr. Talbott resides in the North Middletown vicinity. He is a grandson of the late Tolliver P. Young, of Flat Creek, and a son of the late Lunsford Talbott. Mr. Talbott is a prosperous farmer, a moral, worthy and promising young man, widely known and possessing a multitude of friends. He and his bride-to-be are congratulated in advance of the consummation of their happiness. THE OUTLOOK wishes them a long, prosperous and perfectly happy life.

Kentucky.

"The Empire of the South" is the comprehensive title of the volume just published by the Southern Railway. It contains nearly two hundred octavo pages and four hundred beautiful illustrations. Every State and every particular interest of the country east of the Mississippi and south of the Potomac and Ohio rivers is treated in a broad, vigorous and interesting manner. The author, Frank Presbury, has been for months engaged in the preparation of the book, and has had the co-operation of the officials of the Southern Railway. It is a volume which is sure to do the South an incalculable amount of good. From advance sheets we have pleasure in quoting from the chapter devoted to Kentucky, which is extensive and comprehensive, and covers not only the State's interest as a whole, but gives an interesting sketch of many of the important places.

From the days, over a century ago, when the hunter's rifle startled the timid deer feeding by his rivers, up to the present Kentucky has been a veritable land of plenty. The lapsing years, of course, has seen a change in the kind of abundance but never in the degree. Instead of the roving game that gave meat in plenty for his pioneers, there are now herds and flocks and the sleek thoroughbred, the finest the world has seen. The nuts and fruits of the forest have been supplanted, or rather supplemented, for they are still plentiful, by the rich harvests of fields and the mellow bounty of orchards. Kentucky has ever been a synonym of plenty; her progress it may be truly said has rhythm to the music of the harvest song.

To the early settlers coming over the mountains from the eastern colonies, she lay across the track of their tired feet an oasis of hope and richness. Canaan could not have seemed fairer to the eyes of Caleb than did her verdant stretches of forest and valley to the wistful gaze of these travel-worn pioneers. A glance told them they had indeed reached a "promised land" and they eagerly possessed themselves of it.

Their settlement created a union of complements. It was a coming together of fertility and productive power. For ages possibly Kentucky had lain hidden in her rich soil and had slept beneath her shining rivers, waiting to become actual Kentucky under the transforming hand of man. This human element in just the right fiber and temper came with the first settlers. What has since been wrought all the world knows. Forests have become farms, Indian camping grounds cities, and a wilderness has been changed into a commonwealth.

In 1788 the first trails were being blazed through her forests; in 1888 3,042 miles of railways gridiron the State, bearing the commerce of 2,000,000 people. This commerce has grown to a vast aggregate, having an annual value of hundreds of millions of dollars. In its component parts are included every crop raised in America, products of the mine, forest and factory, and blooded stock from scores of farms. In the production and manufacture of tobacco and whisky Kentucky leads the Union as she does in thoroughbreds. In every branch of industry and production the State's history for a century shows a reliable return can be looked for from effort and investment. This assurance of results in the fact to which Kentucky proudly points as her warrant for her invitation to all who desire a sure return for capital or labor. That her invitation is hearty no one will doubt, for Kentucky's hospitality is proverbial.

But the State's fame rests not alone on her record of progress, notable as that has been. If rest is quite as much on the men and women who have had the privilege, for as such they have always and everywhere esteemed it, of calling themselves Kentuckians.

This State that has been so productive in human and material forces has an area of 40,000 square miles, or 25,000,000 acres, stretching from east to west nearly 350 miles. The surface is a broken plain, sloping generally northwest from the Cumberland Mountains on the southeast. Flowing out within her borders Kentucky has 2,000 miles of navigable rivers. The Ohio is the trunk line of this great waterway system, making up its 653 miles of windings the State's northern boundary. Flowing into it are the Big Sandy, Licking, Kentucky, Salt River, Tradewater, Green, Cumberland and Tennessee. Emptying into these rivers are many smaller ones, the whole making a network of waterways, which is one of the State's most valuable natural assets.

The fertile land drained by these beautiful streams has a soil which is remarkable for its recuperative power. Much of it has been cultivated for many years, but it continues as rich as the virgin soil. The most exhaustive cultivation does not wear it out, as is the case in many agricultural regions. This fact, which is the real secret of Kentucky's boundless fertility, is due to the continual decomposition of limestone which underlies much of the State. Ponce de Leon is said to have found it in a tam of youth, but the soil of the Kentucky farmer has found it in the hidden depths of the earth. Little wonder is it that to such soil the blue grass is native, springing from it spontaneously, and that in it is grown every agricultural staple in the temperate zone. Wheat of unequalled quality for milling purposes is raised in quantities far in excess of the State's need, and corn grows on the rich alluvial bottom lands taller and larger than in any other part of the Union. The season for corn is so long that the crop may be planted as late as the middle of June and still reach yellow maturity before frost. Winter killing of wheat is rarely known, as the climate is mild and equable. Vegetables of every variety grow abundantly, and the central location of the State and its excellent railway connections with Northern markets have in recent years caused profitable attention to be paid to truck farming.

In the production of tobacco Kentucky leads all the other States. The quality is so high that it fixes the standard in many kinds. Her Burley tobacco is so much superior to that grown elsewhere that the State has a virtual monopoly of this staple. As indicating the profits of tobacco culture, crops frequently average from 1,200 to 1,500 pounds per acre, and the choicest leaf frequently sells at $30 per 100 pounds. Besides the Burley, the dark or heavy leaf is also raised. These do not grow so high a price as the former, but their yield is larger, their production proves quite as profitable to the grower.

Kentucky leads the Union also in the production of whisky, having just completed her first century in its manufacture. The beginning of the industry was the direct result of the whisky war in Pennsylvania in 1798. At its close there was an exodus of distillers over the mountains to the wilds of Kentucky. The first distillery was built in what is now Mason county, but when the State was organized it was a part of Bourbon county, hence the name given the product to distinguish it from the eastern brand, which was distilled from rye.

It is interesting to note that in this period of general currency discussion that in the early days whisky was the principal medium of exchange in Kentucky. It possessed the currency requisites of improving with age, of ready divisibility and of portability, to say nothing of the fact that it was in great demand.

As indicating to what dimensions the industry has grown, the General Government receives in revenue alone about $25,000,000 annually on the Kentucky product. Measured in money it is the leading industry in the State, and pays out every year millions of dollars for corn, rye and malt, in addition to the enormous amounts to labor. On May 1, 1888, there were in the distilleries and bonded warehouses of the State 75,500,421 gallons of whisky. For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1897, the production of bourbon and rye whisky was 17,470,887 gallons.

The thoroughbred is the third in the triumvirate of products in which Kentucky leads the Union. The Kentucky horse is invaluable. It is claimed that there is some subtle quality in the climate of Kentucky and some peculiar nutrient in the grasses raised in her limestone pastures that unite in producing the perfect horse. Be that as it may, the fact is fully established that the blooded horses of the "Blue Grass State" excel those raised elsewhere in speed, endurance and beauty.

Mules are also raised in large numbers, especially for supplying the cotton and sugar districts of the Southern States, and to call a mule a Kentucky mule has always added several dollars to its value.

Another branch of the live stock industry which is highly profitable is feeding cattle for the European trade. These cattle, called "export cattle," are as fine as those as are produced anywhere in the world.

Sheep raising is also followed profitably and every year more widely, particularly among the smaller farmers.

Fruit growing has claimed much attention in recent years. At the World's Fair in Chicago, Kentucky peaches were awarded the first place on account of their delicious flavor and rich coloring. In several counties peach raising has been entered upon extensively and the profitable results have become an incentive to peach culture in many other parts of the State.

When the pioneers entered Kentucky, with their axes they literally hewed out a commonwealth. The fertile farms which their sturdy work cleared lessened, of course, the area of the forest lands, but Kentucky today is by no means a treeless plain. Indeed, the State is well timbered, and every species of tree known to her latitude is found in abundance. The raw material is thus offered for a large wood manufacturing industry. At present the value of timber floated to market in rafts and shipped by rail represents many millions of dollars annually.

The State's mineral resources include coal, iron, zinc, vast beds of onyx, clays for the manufacture of all grades of pottery, and valuable quarries of sandstone and limestone. The output of coal in 1897 was 3,200,000 tons, only one other Southern State and four in the entire country producing a greater amount. Much of the bituminous coal of the State is of a superior quality for coaling purposes, the production of coke for 1897 reaching 30,000 tons.

In manufactures the State is on the threshold of a splendid period of development. Much has already been done in many lines, but when the possibilities are considered it seems only a beginning. With coal to feed the fires of her factories, with her hills yielding the best qualities of iron ores, with forests growing timber for every variety of wood-work, with her production of one-quarter of the world's supply of tobacco, and with a splendid system of waterways and railways for transporting the abundant raw materials to factories and their finished product to market, Kentucky possesses every essential to industrial greatness.

But this greatness is by no means only in prospect; much of it, in fact, in the manufacturing of furniture and agricultural implements, a large industry, is already thriving. In the manufacture of tobacco and cigars the State is fast coming to the position to which the primary in the production of raw material entitles her. As has already been stated, she now leads in the production of whisky. There are in the State several large cotton and woolen mills whose success clearly indicates what may be expected in the development of this line of manufactures.

But Kentucky has not allowed herself to become engrossed with the creation of wealth to the exclusion of the cultivation of the mind. She is generous in her provision for schools. In 1897 she was providing instruction for 738,109 of her children, for which she was paying over $3,000,000. On teachers' salaries alone the sum reached the large total of $2,500,000. At the head of the school system is her State University at Lexington, with which the graded schools are federated. There are also many other institutions of higher learning, among them being Georgetown College, Central University, Center College and the State Agricultural and Mechanical College.

The cities of Kentucky are among the most progressive in the South. They are centers of enterprising activity and have always been a strong factor in the development of the State's resources. Their citizens have been quick to perceive Kentucky's natural advantages and ready to take the lead in improving them. Kentucky's cities have also become famous as centers of a charming hospitality and of all the graces of social life.

Tepid Bath Best.
"The best of all baths is the tepid bath," says Ruth Ashmore in the November Ladies' Home Journal. "We hear wonderful stories of English girls breaking the ice to jump into their baths. I have known a great many English girls with beautiful complexions who took their baths as regularly as they did any of their meals, and their appetites were usually good. Every one of them took a tepid soap bath, and if she had no means of having a shower she gave one to herself by pouring water over all parts of her body, changing the temperature of this shower so that from tepid it became almost cool, but never cold. Having chosen your bath you must remember that a good rubbing is a part of it. The bath that leaves you weakened is useless—is dangerous—whereas the bath that strengthens you, and makes you feel full of life and vitality, is the one you need. All the creams that were ever made, all the powders that were ever ground up, and all the liquid beautifiers that ever existed as untruths, will not do one-thousandth as much toward making a girl's complexion good as the proper observance of the bath and the regular taking of exercise."

A MODERN FABLE.—Once upon a time a tramp was sorely in need of something to eat, and approaching a farmhouse he spoke unto the farmer, saying: "If you will give me a wheelbarrow to satisfy the cravings of the inner man I will kill all the rats about the place." "Agreed," said the tiller of the soil, and he ordered his good wife to give the tramp a square meal. After the tramp had devoured everything in sight he went to the wood pile and secured a stout club, then seating himself on the porch he said to the farmer: "Now bring on your rats." Moral:—Always have the details specified in the contract.

GRANDMOTHER.

She sits beside the window.

In wooden rocking chair.

Through cap of lace I can trace

The snowy waves of hair.

So white it glows, so warm it glows,

As sunlight softly pour

Through window pane and try to vain

To make it gold once more.

I love her eyes—dim, yet so wise,

And, oh, so quick to find the right

To help and cheer when skies are drear

And ways are steep and rough.

I love to sit where shadows fall,

My head upon her knee,

And feel her arm, so soft and warm,

Close gently over me.

I love to hear her voice, so mild,

The long, full day of work and play

Has wavered in my child's

Oh, sweet, the love that's in her mood!

And sweet the tone: "My little one,

I trust you have been good."

CHAPTER XXIII.—CONTINUED.

I dropped upon the thwart again,

and now, when I was near overhead,

I could see nothing for the moment, but these two furious, enigmatical faces, swaying together under the smoky lamp; and I shut my eyes to let them grow once more familiar with the darkness.

The endless ballad had come to an end at last, and the whole diminished company about the campfire had broken into the chorus I had heard so often:

"Fitter men on the dead man's chest—

Yo-ho-ho, and a bottle of rum!"

I was just thinking how busy drink and the devil were at that very moment in the cabin of the "Hispaniola," when I was surprised by a sudden lurch of the coracle. At the same moment, she yawned sharply and seemed to change her course. The speed in the meantime had strangely increased.

I opened my eyes at once. All round me were little apples, coming over with a sharp, brilliant, and slightly phosphorescent. The "Hispaniola" herself, a few yards in whose wake I was still being whirled along, seemed to stagger in her course, and I saw her spurs toss a little against the blackness of the night; and, as I looked longer,

I made sure she also was wheeling to the southward.

I glanced over my shoulder, and my heart jumped at the sight. There, to right behind me, was the glow of the campfire. The current had turned at right angles, sweeping round along with the tall schooner and the little dancing coracle; ever quickening, ever hubbubbing higher, ever muttering louder,

it went spinning through the narrows

for the open sea.

Suddenly the schooner in front of me gave a violent yaw, turning, perhaps, through 20 degrees, and almost at the same moment one shot followed another from on board; I could hear feet pounding on the companion ladder; and I knew that the two drunkards had at last been interrupted in their quarrel and awakened to a sense of their disaster.

I lay down flat in the bottom of that wretched skiff, and devoutly commended my spirit to its Maker. At the end of the straits, I made sure we must fall into some bar of raging breakers,

where all my troubles would be ended speedily, and though I could, perhaps, hear to die, I could not bear to look upon my fate as it approached.

So I must have lain for hours, continually beaten to and fro upon the bil-lows, now and again wetted with flying sprays, and never ceasing to expect death at the next plunge. Gradually weariness grew upon me; a numbness,

an occasional stupor, fell upon my mind even in the midst of my terrors; until sleep at last intervened, and in my seasoned coracle I lay and dreamed of home and the old Admiral Benbow.

CHAPTER XXIV.

THE CRUISE OF THE CORACLE.

It was broad day when I awoke, and found myself tossing at the southwest end of Treasure Island. The sun was up, but was obscured by a thick bank

the great bulk of the spy-glass, which on this side descended almost to the sea in formidable cliffs.

Haulbowline Head and Mizenmast

Hill were in my elbow; the hill, bare black, the head, brown with cliffs 40

50 feet high and fringed with great masses of fallen rock. I was scarce a quarter of a mile to seaward, and it was my first thought to paddle in and land.

But that notion was soon given over—

among the fallen rocks the breakers spouted and belled; loud reverberations, heavy sprays flying and falling, succeeded one another from second to second, and I saw myself, if I ventured nearer, dashed to death upon the rough shore or spending my strength in vain to scale the beelling crags.

Nor was that all; for, crawling together on flat tables of rock or letting themselves drop into the sea with loud reports, I beheld huge slimy monsters—

soft snails, as it were, of incredible bigness—two or three scores of them together, making the rocks echo with their burblings.

I have understood since that they were sea lions and entirely harmless.

But the look of them, added to the difficulty of the shore and the high running of the surf, was more than enough to disgust me of that landing place. I felt willing rather to starve at sea than to confront such perils.

In the meantime I had a better chance, as I supposed, North of Hau-lbowline Head, the hill, bare black, the head, brown with cliffs 40 50 feet high and fringed with great masses of fallen rock. I was scarce a quarter of a mile to seaward, and it was my first thought to paddle in and

land.

Had it been otherwise, I must long ago have perished; but as it was, it is surprising how easily and securely my little and light boat could ride. Often, as I still lay at the bottom, and kept no more than a little above the surface,

I would see a big blue summit

heaving close above me; yet the coracle would bounce a little, dance as if on springs, and subside on the other side into the trough as lightly as a bird.

I heaved a little to grow very bold, and sat up to try my skill at paddling. But even a small change in the disposition of the weight will produce violent changes in the behavior of a cor-acle. And I had hardly moved before the boat, giving up at once her gentle, dancing movement, ran straight down

a slope of water so steep that it made me giddy, and struck her nose, with a splash of spray, deep into the side of the water wave.

I was drenched and terrified, and fell instantly back into my old position, whereupon the coracle seemed to find her head again, and led me softly as before among the billows. It was plainly that I had a little to grow very

bold, and sat up to try my skill at paddling. But even a small change in the

ner. She was stock still, but for the current.

For the last little while I had even lost; but now, redoubting my efforts,

I began once more to overhaul the chairs.

I was not a hundred yards from her

when the wind came again in a clap;

she filled on the port tack, and was off again, sloping and skimming like a swallow.

My first impulse was one of despair,

but my second was toward joy. Round she came, till she was broadside on to me—round still till she had covered a half, and then two-thirds, and then

MUST HOLD THEM

President Arrives at the Conclusion That We Must Keep Philippines.

It is Evident That Spain Can Not Again Re-Establish Authority Over the Remaining Islands Without a Prolonged War With Insurgents.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—President McKinley is convinced that there is no way in which the United States can escape the responsibility of taking all the Philippines. He has arrived at this conclusion after mature deliberation. He at first favored keeping nothing more than a military and naval base, and thought that the United States should not even retain more than the island of Luzon. When the American peace commissioners left for Paris it was not contemplated that they should demand from the Spanish government more than the absolute cession of this one island to the United States and a reversionary interest in the other islands of the group.

It has been found, however, that there were many practical difficulties in the way of such a solution, not the least of them being the evident impossibility of Spain's re-establishing authority over the remaining islands without a prolonged and bloody struggle with the insurgent forces.

Information, coupled with the opinion of military and naval commanders familiar with the Philippine situation, have led the president to believe that the Spanish fleet in Manila bay and Gen. Maura's capture of Manila, annihilated Spanish sovereignty in the islands and it became a duty of the United States to establish a better government than the one which was destroyed by American arms.

The president has been deluged with letters from all parts of the United States and with resolutions from commercial and religious bodies, urging that American sovereignty should be maintained over the flag. It has been pointed out in this same line, the president's recent visit to the Philippines and the members of his cabinet who accompanied him. The further he went west the stronger he held the sentiment in favor of holding all the Philippines and establishing an American government over them.

Secretary Gage, who went west before the president, and who went as far as Denver, found the sentiment there even stronger than in Omaha. In all the meetings of the cabinet before the peace commissioners left for Paris Secretary Gage was the most conservative of all the president's advisers. He doubted the wisdom of taking even as much as the island of Luzon, and would have been glad if a way had been found of relinquishing all the Philippines. Since his return from the west, however, he is an advocate of holding all the islands.

Although it has been finally determined that the Philippines shall be retained, the peace commissioners may be given considerable latitude as to the terms on which they are to be retained. The Philippines are regarded as standing on a different basis from Cuba and Porto Rico, and some of the members of the administration believe that if all the islands are taken Spain should be given some measure of compensation for them, especially as the Philippines have been by far the most valuable of all her colonies.

It can be said that it is quite probable that the American commissioners will be authorized to go so far as to offer to place the United States to assume the Philippine debt, or at least such portion of it as has been expended on the public works in the islands.

The exact amount of the debt that should be properly charged to the United States under such an arrangement could not be accurately stated without a full analysis of the debt, but it is believed that it will be less than $100,000,000.

No Cabnet as Yet.
PARIS, Oct. 21.—The Dreyfus decision seems to have delayed a solution of the cabinet crisis. M. De Freyenet is again hesitating to accept the portfolio of minister of war on the ground that in view of the role the protestants have played in the Dreyfus case, it would be inadvisable for two protestants, himself and M. Ribot, to hold the portfolios of war and justice.

Thus far only 45 claims have been presented from relatives of the boys who went down with the Maine.

WANT TERRITORIAL RIGHTS.

Delegates From the Porto Rico Towns in Porto Rico Held a Meeting in the Theater in Ponce Sunday.

SAN JUAN, P. R., Oct. 21.—The principal theater of the city was taxed to its utmost capacity Sunday afternoon on the occasion of a public meeting of delegates from the chief towns of the island to consider and defeat recommendations regarding the necessities of the island for the use of the special commissioners, who will be selected later to represent Porto Rico at Washington when the time comes for setting the administrative system.

The assembly was fairly representative, and although the proceedings gave undue prominence to unimportant details, there was abundant evidence of intelligent reflection on the part of the delegates, and of a determination not to tolerate partisan politics at this crisis in the island's affairs.

Carefully prepared reports were submitted by the political, social and economic committees.

The meeting received with enthusiasm the resolutions demanding territorial rights, the cessation of the present military rule and the installation of a civil government.

Other resolutions were adopted asking an eight-hour day for the laboring man and severely denouncing the present corrupt system of registering deeds of land.

It was observed that the delegates proceeded upon the assumption that the United States would grant Porto Rico territorial rights.

COL. G. E. WARING, JR., DEAD.
Three Hours After His Death His Body Was Taken to Swinburne Island and Cremated.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Col. Geo. E. Waring, Jr., died of yellow fever Saturday at his home in this city where he had been since he arrived from Havana on the Yucatan on Tuesday last. He was 67 years of age.

Waring his body, incased in a metal casket, was taken from the apartment where he had occupied to the dock at the foot of Fifteenth street, where the quarantine boat, Gov. Flowers, with Dr. Doty in charge, was in waiting. The body was placed on board and taken to Swinburne Island. It was there placed in a casket, and Dr. Doty himself lit the fire which cremated the remains.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—The ashes of Col. George E. Waring, Jr., which were placed in an urn temporarily, remained Sunday at Swinburne Island. What disposition will be made of them has not yet been decided upon by Mrs. Waring. On account of the expressed wish of Col. Waring there will be no public funeral. Col. Waring often said that he wished his obsequies to be of the simplest character.

FITZHUGH LEE'S COMMAND.
It is the intention of the Administration to Land the Corps in Cuba by the 1st of January Next.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—No definite determination has been reached as to the date when the troops now at Savannah will be sent to Cuba. A prominent administration official said Sunday night that the departure of Gen. Lee's corps would be dependent to a certain extent upon the movements of the Spanish forces in evacuating the island. The American troops, he said, might sail this week, and they might not sail for a month.

It is the intention of the administration, however, to land Gen. Lee's corps in Cuba before the 1st of January. That date has been fixed definitely as the time for the final evacuation of the island by the Spaniards. An effort was made by the Spanish authorities to obtain an extension of the time of evacuation until the 1st of February, but this proposition was declined by the American commissioners.

Senior Montero Rios Ill.
PARIS, Oct. 21.—Senior Montero Rios, president of the Spanish peace commission, is ill. This caused some doubt Sunday evening as to whether there will be a joint session of the commission Monday. If he is unable to attend it is unlikely that the Spaniards would consent to enter the conference to take up the Philippine question for initial consideration.

THE HOLY LAND.

The German Emperor and Empress' Entrance Into Jerusalem.

Sunday the Imperial Pair Attended Services at the Evangelical Church in Bethlehem, Afterward Paying a Visit to the Church of the Nativity.

JERUSALEM, Oct. 21.—The approach of the German imperial majesties to the city Saturday was made through triumphal arches and amid banners, garlands and overgrown crowds, displaying in every way their enthusiasm and delight.

The formal entry through the Jaffa gate was heralded by the roar of guns at the citadel, where the Turkish band played the German anthem.

From the Tower of David, Emperor William and Empress Augusta Victoria proceeded on foot, amid wild cheering to the Church of the Holy Sepulcher, where they were received by the Catholic, Greek and Armenian clergy, whose patriarchs presented addresses congratulating the devotion of Emperor William, who has since conferred decorations on the patriarchs.

Their majesties then proceeded to the German Evangelical church, where the pastor presented an address. At 6 o'clock in the evening (Saturday) a reception was held at the German consulate and later there was a general illumination of the city, with a display of fireworks.

Sunday the imperial pair attended services at the Evangelical church in Bethlehem, afterward paying a visit to the Church of the Nativity.

The weather Sunday was beautiful and everywhere the greatest enthusiasm was displayed.

After the excursion to Jericho, David Pasha, former grand vizier, recently Turkish governor of Crete and now attached to the person of Emperor William as a special representative of the sultan, will leave the imperial suite. It is rumored that this is due to some unpleasantness.

Emperor William has sent his personal greetings to the Turkish ambassador to Germany, who was among the high Ottoman dignitaries that received the emperor and empress in Constantinople.

Emperor William and the empress, while at the Church of the Holy Sepulcher, visited the various portions of the sacred shrine and spent ten minutes at the scene of the crucifixion. Their return from the church was the occasion for an outburst of popular enthusiasm, palm branches being strewn along the way and the cobblestones laid with carpets.

LOXON, Oct. 21.—The Constantinople correspondent of the Daily Mail says: According to private information received here, Emperor William's reception at Haifa, Palestine, was anything but a success. The Turkish ironclads that were to fire a salute did not arrive until four hours after the emperor's departure, and nobody was allowed to witness the imperial landing from the windows.

THE FAMOUS DREYFUS CASE.
The Court of Cassation Decides to Review the Trial. His Absolute Control Over the Matter.

PARIS, Oct. 21.—By Saturday's decision the court of cassation obtains the most absolute control over the Dreyfus case. It can demand and examine any documents whatever, including the dossier of any case bearing upon the matter, and can examine under oath any witness, however high his position.

In short, if the court makes a sincere use of its powers the truth will have a much better chance of being discovered than it would have been the case had it merely ordered revision before another court-martial, whose members might have been actuated by a desire to shield the general staff.

LOXON, Oct. 21.—The Paris correspondent of the Daily News says the decision of the court of cassation on Saturday was given by a vote of 9 against 4.

A BIG SENSATION AT PONCE.
Two Alleged Anarchists Lured From the Red D Line Steamer Philadelphia From the Spanish Main.

PONCE, Oct. 21.—A sensation was caused here Saturday on the arrival of the Red D line steamer Philadelphia from the Spanish Main, by the discovery in the hand bags of two passengers of a number of explosive cartridges containing dynamite.

The discovery was made by the custom officials and the passengers were arrested on the supposition that they are anarchists.

The police who fear that others belonging to the gang have escaped, are making a strict search.

Wind Off of the Exposition.
OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 21.—Six high officials of the Trans-Mississippi exposition, which closes Monday, were arrested Sunday, and the finish of the great western show promises to be a most serious nature, that of forgery and selling awards.

An Excipient on Anarchism.
LOXON, Oct. 21.—The Rome correspondent of the Daily Chronicle says the pope will shortly issue an encyclical on anarchism.

Two More Victims Recovered.
TOLEDO, O., Oct. 21.—Two bodies were taken from the ruins of the Union elevator fire Sunday. One is thought to be that of Bert Wainwright, who is still unaccounted for. A total of 18 dead is the result of this fire, which occurred September 20.

Gen. Scales' Daughter Wed.

A NATION OF DYSPETICS.

From the Mountaineer, Wallalla, N. Dak.

The remorse of a guilty stomach is what a large majority of the people are suffering with today. Dyspepsia is a characteristic American disease and it is frequently stated that "we are a nation of dyspeptics."

Impure food, hurried eating, mental worry, exhaustion, any of these produce a lack of vitality in the system, by causing the blood to lose its life-sustaining elements. The blood is the vital element in our lives and should be carefully nurtured. Restore the blood to its proper condition, and dyspepsia will vanish and good health follow.

For example, in the county of Penning, North Dakota, a few miles from Wallalla, resides Mr. Ernest Snider, a man of sterling integrity, whose veracity cannot be doubted. He says:

"I became seriously ill three years ago. The doctor gave me medicine for indigestion, but I continued to become worse. I had several physicians at intervals who gave me some relief, but nothing permanent. I read in the newspapers articles regarding the wonderful curative powers of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and finally concluded to try the pills. I purchased six boxes. This was five months ago. The first box gave me much relief. I continued taking the pills, and after using four boxes was cured."

"These pills are recognized everywhere as a specific for diseases of the blood and nerves. For paralysis, locomotor ataxia, and other diseases long supposed incurable, they have proved their efficacy in thousands of cases."

Confused.

"Well, we came back engaged, but I didn't know whether I caught her or she caught me."—Illustrated American.

Not Satisfied.
Clergyman: "You want to be separated from your husband? Don't you know that marriages are made in Heaven?"
She: "I know that, sir, but ours was not. I got my husband through an advertisement in the papers."—Illustrated American.

War Matters.

Spain protests against the Oregon and Iowa going to reinforce Dewey.

The troops were under orders to start from the camps near Lexington, Ky., to the camp sites selected for them in Georgia. They probably began leaving Monday by regiments.

Spain knocks under on the proposition to saddle the Cuban bonds on the United States or Cuba.

The soldiers of the Second Kentucky were paid off and mustered out at Lexington Friday and Saturday. They got $60 to $75 each.

The Administration "remembered the Maine" and instructed the U. S. Evacuation Commission to find out whether there were any submerged explosives in Havana harbor before U. S. warships are dispatched there to overawe Blanco into reasonable activity in getting the Spanish forces out of the island.

FRANCE is in for a season of wild national delirium. Dreyfus being granted a new trial.

The Herald thinks that Van Wyck will down Roosevelt, but that the Republicans will elect the Legislature and choose a Senator to succeed Murphy, Democrat.

FRUGALITY speaking, the Cuban insurgent army officers are fighting over the civil offices at Manzanillo like starved Eskimo dogs over a bone.

The critical stage of the peace negotiations between the United States and Spain is reached. It is like having an eye-tooth pulled for Spain to part with the Philippines.

The result of this election will in a large measure determine whether the free-silver forces will make another reckless, demoralizing assault on the national credit in 1900.

A MERRY old time is in prospect during the establishment of a "stable" government in Cuba. The natives are likely to play "horse" with Uncle all over the lot many times before he breaks them in.

TEDDY ROOSEVELT has less than a week now to make his rough-riding round-up of the New York vote. It depends pretty much on how many mavericks, or independents, he can secure as to whether he can brand a bigger herd than Dickey Croker.

NEW YORK will have the laugh on Chicago and Philadelphia peace jubilees if Spain continues resisting until another trouncing becomes necessary. Then when real peace comes the great metropolis will hold a jubilee as is a jubilee.

SHACKLEFORD carried the Ninth district by a good majority last year. If the Republicans want Pugh to go back to Congress they will have to come out to a man and vote for him. Regrets that they didn't vote will be unavailing after the election.

CARL SCHURZ has the biggest notion in the world to take to the woods and winter his vote. The New York political plot is so mixed and tangled with State, national and municipal threads that Carl's logical mind for once is unable to unravel it readily.

PENNSYLVANIA admirers of Admiral Schley have subscribed over $1,000 with which to have made a magnificent jeweled sword for presentation to him. Friends of the "Bully Boy" show a strong disposition to stand by him until he gets the honor due him.

UNCLE SAM—"Gosh hang it! I must apologize to Mr. Toodles for laughing at her purchasing the second-hand coffin-plate because it was 'such a bargain,' for here I am going to buy the Philippines, and you may play me for the biggest sucker in the creek if I know what I want with them!"

GREAT BRITANNIA pauses in her role of the waves and humbling proud France over Fashoda to make a blooming softy of herself over Tod Sloan, the phenomenal American jockey. Lord Russell, Lord Chief Justice of England, says if Sloan was a British subject and offered for member of Parliament for Epsom it is doubtful that his rivals would have a chance for election.

DANIEL R. COLLIER and Wilbur R. Smith, with Gov. Bradley umpire, played a nice little friendly game of in-and out in the Adjutant General's office. Collier went out and Smith went in, Smith went out and Collier went back in.

The Democrats, with a show of confidence, are claiming the election of every Democratic Congressional nominee in Kentucky except in the Eleventh district. Next Wednesday or Thursday the tale will be told unless some of the races in the mountain districts are very close.

The New York Herald's estimate of the result of the Congressional elections is 193 Republicans, 143 Democrats, 12 Fusionists, 8 Populists and 1 Silverite. The President House has 204 Republicans, 122 Democrats, 15 Fusionists, 12 Populists and 3 Silverites. The Herald's estimate gives the Democrats a gain of 21—11 at Republican expense and 10 at the expense of the Populists and Fusionists.

A REPORT is out to the effect that Secretary Long of the Navy administered a decided snub to Lieutenant Richmond P. Hobson when the latter called on the Secretary in answer to a summons to Washington. It is said that Hobson broached the subject of raising the Cristobal Colon and Long brusquely informed him that he was called to take part in the Philadelphia peace jubilee and not to consult about raising ships. The report is hardly credible, but if true it is only to Secretary Long's discredit.

The Continental Tobacco Company, with a capital of $75,000, 000, has been organized. It includes the former "Tobacco Trust," as the American Tobacco Company was known; and nearly all the important independent chewing tobacco firms except Liggett & Myers. There appears to be no doubt about the deal this time. It is presumed, of course, that a few buyers will replace the many buyers for the Trust and individual firms, and thus competition will be reduced to that of the buyers for the export trade, those for the independent firms and the few for the Continental buyers. The prospect is not very promising for the growers.

A mistake on our part last week was that Elder Henry Adams, coming to a meeting at the church with 14 additions to the church when it should have been 34.

J. W. Cassidy, of Sideview, while visiting at Hazel Green, wrote us a letter stating that the chestnut crop is in full blast. Be careful, Jess, and don't get over in Smoky Hollow and disturb "South Side" while he is making a run of moonshine.

The series of meetings at Fasset's conducted by Elder Henry D. Adams, of Hazel Green, is progressing nicely, with several additions up to this writing. Bro. Adams is an eloquent speaker, and the unusually large congregations are well pleased with him.

Married, Wednesday, Oct. 26th, Mr. George Roy, of this vicinity, and Miss Isabel Enser, of near Craigs. Mr. Roy is one of our most prosperous and enthusiastic farmers, and this being his second venture in matrimony we wish him and his beautiful bride every joy possible one could have in married life.

Walton. The attendants were sisters of the bride, Misses Anna and Minnie Walton. Rev. Gardner officiated. The bride is one of Grange City's lovely young women, who has many friends, and is a daughter of our well known citizen R. R. Walton. Mr. Waller, with whom we are but slightly acquainted, seems to be quite a fine young man. May happiness and prosperity be their constant companions through life's journey. Mr. and Mrs. Waller received many handsome presents.

South Side.

Old Crump was a social caller here the larger portion of last week.

Don't abuse the summer season. All is ordered for the best. When the watermelons suffer the cotton-tails have a rest.

The sportive little fly is gone. Just how the world could roll around without the fly we hardly know, yet people are glad to have them go. Shoo fly!
